

Images of Haverhill

Photographs provide images of past times and different ways of life, memories for those who were there at the time or a chance to try to put oneself in those earlier days.

The power of photographs fascinates all those who see the Haverhill and District Local History Group's collection. In this exhibition are some of its hidden treasures.

In recognition of the collection's importance, the Countryside Agency is funding a Local Heritage Initiative grant to help preserve the photographs and make them accessible to a wider audience.
