

Foreword by Lady Sarah Clutton

With the new millennium, many of us have become more aware of the history of the places where we live. The 'Millennium Map Project', which West Sussex County Council promoted so well among the parishes of this county, has proved that people are interested, are eager to know more, and have a greater desire to preserve their inheritance.

The map of Warningcamp was one of the first to be produced, and Mary Barber was able to make a considerable contribution to it, because of her long commitment to producing this volume. For over ten years now she has been collecting and collating material from villagers, and from sources far and wide. From this great wealth of data, she has written this excellent history of several thousand years of the village, and I would like to thank and congratulate her on what she has achieved.

Although I have lived in Warningcamp for some twenty years, I did not know much about its history. This comprehensive book will help us all to discover more about this delightful village, and the people who have lived here, together with details of buildings and traditions lost long ago.

Mary has carefully reconstructed the history so that all may find something of interest. Even our own lives now form part of the history!

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Sarah Clutton". The signature is written in a cursive style. Below the signature is a long, horizontal, slightly curved line that extends to the right.