HILL PONY

The Friends of the Dartmoor Hill Pony are encouraging Dartmoor's pony breeders to keep their individuality and promote their ponies for riding and driving where they have excellent value and demand. The variety of herds produce different attributes and strengths.

Already people are once again beginning to appreciate the value of these tough and strong characters and the demand is proven to be there. These pictures show the endless hours of enjoyment and fun that await you.

The history and current status of the Dartmoor Hill Pony will shortly be the subject of a new website dedicated to the

Dartmoor Hill Pony

We are very grateful for marketing support and sponsorship from The Heritage Lottery Fund and The Dartmoor Trust for making this exhibition and the new website possible.

The Future

How can you help to preserve the individual pony herds, their heritage and the history for all to enjoy?

Become a Friend of the Dartmoor Hill Pony and join our organisation.

It costs a nominal amount to become a Friend and you will receive a quarterly Newsletter full of information on pony sales, shows, open days and fund-raising events. Your support will give these ponies the help they need to survive on Dartmoor.

The Dartmoor Hill Pony has evolved through many years of selective breeding of commons ponies. The genes that have been inherited are as useful today as they were 3000 years ago. Their breeding has made them tough, hardy and adaptable and this is what makes them such great ponies for children and driving. They have long been guardians of the moor and that is why farmers continue to breed ponies to conserve it. Keeping the moor in good order and love of the ponies is part of the tradition for the people entrusted with this valuable wilderness.
